THE REIGN OF PEACE

Eighteenth Annual Meeting of the Universal Peace Union.

Politics, Temperance, the French Government, and the Chinese Question.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Universal Peace Union began at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, at the Friends' meeting house, I street, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth northwest, with Alfred H. Love, president; Houry S, Clubb (editor of the Pencemaker) secretary.

The delegates are Bernard T. Janney, Samuel M. Baldwin, Belva A. Lockwood, Joseph S. Fowler, District of Columbia; Jacob Joseph S. Fowler, District of Columbia; Jacob M. Troth, Mount Vernon, Va.; Charles Williams, Fredericksburg, Va.; WalterWalton, Va.; Ex-Senator Fowler, Tennessee; W. Harrison Lewis, Buffalo, N. Y.; Alfred H. Lovo, Edwin H. Coatos, T. Eliwood Chapman, Henry S. Clubb, Dr. Sarah T. Redgors, Clayton B. Redgers, Kate Lee, Hannah M. Harian, Jessie Cleaver, Philadelphia; William Wood, Edward L. Palmer, Honry Janney, Jonathan K. Taylor, Baltimore, Rev. Mr. Phillips, Texas, Levi K. Joslin, Rhode Island.

After remarks by the president, letters appreciative of the sentiments and policy of the Universal Peace Union were read from R. Stewart Parnell, Hon. Charles O'Neill, house of representatives; Hon. Hiram Pries, commissioner of Indian affairs: Rev. Robert commissioner of Indian affairs: Rev. Robert Collyer, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Hon. I. Newton Evans, house of representatives; Zebnica P. White, Pawtocket, R. I.; Jonathan W. Flummer, Chicago; Edward S. Toby, postmaster of Boston, and Secretary Frelinghuysen. The latter was in response to a request from the Universal Peace Union that the President place in his measure to converse some allusion.

latter was in response to a request from the Universal Peace Union that the President place in his message to congress some allusion to the court of arbitration, which was done. It was stated that Darlington Hooper, one of the originators of the Universal Peace Union, was prevented from attending the meeting on account of a family affliction.

President Love was pleased to state that arbitration treaties had been affected between Italy and Belgium and Eugland and Italy. He also stated that John Bright and William E. Gladstone were in sympathy with the Universal Peace union, and that the Hebrews took an active interest in the meeting held in Philadelphia.

Henry S. Clubb reported that the Peacemaker had trebled its circulation within the past two years. Referring to the principles of the Universal Peace union to promote peace among all nations, he took occasion to say that in the late telegraph strike he had been informed by the officials of the American Rapid company that the Peace union, through its efforts toward arbitration, had been instrumental in bringing the strike to an end.

Satisfactory reports were made by Jesse

Committees were appointed as follows: On nominations, Edwin H. Coates, Dr. Sarah T. Redgers, Henry Janney, T. Elwood Chapman, Jacob M. Troth; on resolutions, Levi K. Joslin, Walter Walton, Henry S. Clubb, A. H. Leve, Hannah M. Harlan, Belva A. Lockwood, J. S. Fowler Tennessee; Bernard T. Janney, Dr. Sarah T. Rogers; on finance, Hannah M. Harlan, Kate Lee.

Mr. Janney, of Baltimore, said that the withdrawal of the French troops from Tonquin and transferring them to the Island of Madagascar was a most iniquitous measure. The queen of Madagascar had banished intemperatice and slavery from the island, and just because the Chinese had shown a most wonderful patience in yielding to the demands of the French, they (the French) had no right to make the same demands from the queen of Madagascar.

Mr. Fowler said, that although ready to consure the French, he thought we should stop at home, as our own conduct toward the Chinese was just as censurable as that of the French.

Mrs. Rodgers said that the conduct of the cussed by Messrs. Coates, Lewis, Clubb, Fow-ler, Troth, and others.

Mr. Clubb said that he objected to Blaine's nomination for the presidency because he advocated the privileges of the sand lots in California as against those of the Chinese.

Mr. Janney admitted that Mr. Blaine had called a peace convention of all the nations of the western world, which had been frustrated by the death of President Garfield. trated by the death of President Garfield, but the speaker objected to his policy in the Chill-Peru affair. He did not like the Monree dectrine policy of Mr. Biains in the Panama canal discussion. President Love hoped that the meeting would not become personal, and remarked that what had been said was merely by way of illustration.

Mr. Troth thought that the Peace union

Mr. Troth thought that the Peace union had always been too conservative in its deliberations. He was glad to see a discussion of public men and their records, and especially when the momentous question of who should be the nominee of the republican party for president is to be decided next week.

"Let us have," said Mr. Coates, of Philadelphia, "a conscientious regard for the truth, and, like Davy Crockett, be "Sure we are right and then go ahead."

Said Mr. Janney, "I hope it will not go out that we are dabbling in politics; there will be enough of that at Chicago."

Mr. Clubb thought a good deal of Blaine, and might vote for him. He believed it was much better to express an opinion before than after a nomination.

than after a nomination.

Mrs. Rodgers was of the opinion that the Universal Peace union should keep aloof from politics; but Mr. Clubb took strong grounds against such a policy. She closed the debate upon politics, and the members began to talk about temperance. Mr. Clubb stated that intoxicating liquors were being taken to the island of Madagascar under the protection of the British flag, and after further remarks upon the subject, as also in reference to the action of the French toward the island of Madagascar, the following was adopted: ing was adopted:

At the afternoon session a resolution was offered by Bernard T. Janney, of the District of Columbia, relative to the scading of a committee to the republican and democratic national conventions with the view of having committee this morning. The invitation was accepted.

A letter was also read by the president, from Charles Laymoni, of Paris. Franco, chairman of the European branch of the Peace union, which gave a very favorable report of the work of the union on the other side of the Atlantic.

James K. Joshin, of the committee on resolutions, submitted a series to the effect that peace is a blessing upon humanity; that it abolishes the customs of war, controls the self-divine spirit in man; that it establishes the principles of justice, love, and arbitration; that international arbitration is the practical policy of government; that the science of arbitration should be taught in the schools; that it is a republican principle; that science of arbitration should be taught in the schools; that it is a republican principle; that the Peace union opposes the reorganization of the militia, because it is a menuoe of war, and inspires the use of deadly weapons.

The resolution was adopted.

The following other resolutions were carried: By Bernard T. Januay, that a committee of five be suppointed with power to act in calling the representatives of ether organizations to a representatives of ether organizations to a representation of all the peace congresses of the United Histor, to be held in Washington. Mr. Januay stated that the object of introducing the resolution was for a concentration of forces in the appointment of a committee to urge upon congress the adoption of all peace or arbritration measures. Messrs. Bernard T. Janney, J. S. Fowler, Jacob M. Troth, Dr. R. McMurdy (Ohio) and Belva A. Lockwood were appointed as the committee; by Henry S. Clubb, that fraternal greetings be sant to the American Peace convention, now in session in Boston, as also the adopted resolution by Mr. Janney; by W. H. Coates, that a kind fraternal letter be sent to the Right Worthy Grand Ledge of Good Templars of the World, which assembles this morning at Masonic temple, with the motte that temperance is an essential part of peace—that peace ance is an essential part of peace - that peace and temperance are twin sisters, going hand in hand.

The resolution offered by Mr. Bernard T. Jamey at the afternoon session and referred, having reference to an arbitration plank in the republican and democratic national convention platforms as recommended by the National Arbitration league, was submitted and adopted. The committee appointed by the Arbitration league, to present their resolutions to the conventions to be held at Chicago, consists of J. H. Pettibone, of Tennessee; Dr. Mc-Murdy, of Ohio, and Dr. J. A. Bland, of Washington. Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood will also be present at both conventions.

The union, at a late hour, adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

The children of the kindergarten school, adjoining the Friends' meeting house, will be present at the morning session.

Genius. Some one has defined genius to be a huge sapacity for work—a slightly erroneous definition. He should have said that capacity for work gave genius force. Genius is something more; it is the capacity for creation and it may develop itself in speaking and writing as well as in artistic idealization. Genius cannot be controlled or directed, but is a law unto itself. Nor can writing or speaking worthy of survival be produced to order. If either be the product of demand, that reduces it to the domain of machinery. 'In spite of all the criticising elves.'
